Family Practice

“Being a primary care physician gives me the privilege of helping patients make their lives better,” says Dr. Steven Western. “Whether they are experiencing a relatively minor health issue, a chronic condition, or even a terminal illness, it is essential for patients to have accurate information about their diagnosis and what we can do together to achieve the best possible outcome.”

Discussing their options and feeling they have a care partner in getting well and staying healthy is an essential part of why his patients value their relationship with Dr. Western. As a long-time husband and father of five children, he understands the importance of maintaining good health not only for our own sake but also for the others in our life who love us or depend on our support.

When not busy with his patients or spending time with his family, Dr. Western loves to ride his motorcycle through the Coachella Valley and wherever else it may take him.
